News and Gossip. Boydel's steam carriage, in London, makes a railway for itself as it moves along.

Sections of railways are secured to the wheels in such a manner that, as they revolve, section after section is brought under the wheels and held firm for a certain period, laying and tak-ing up a continuous track for the wheels, as the carriage moves along. The section rails are broad tram plates with upturned flanges connected to the felloss of the wheels by pins working in curved slots; and there are a few teeth on the face of the wheels, and suitable notches in the inner surface of the rails, so that as the former revolve, the teeth take into the notches of the rails at proper intervals, and

The favorite and decidedly most fashionable costumes of the present moment, in Paris, are the war-soiled and patched uniforms of the beroes of the Italian campaign. The red pantaloons, pieced with the white cloth torn from an Austrian soldier, excites a burst of admiration and enthusiasm, such as the most stylish artifices of gentlemen's paraphanalia can never hope to excite even by the most artistic creation of his inventive brain and nimble fingers.

The New York Times has published a list of the suicides which have been recorded in the papers of the United States during the last six weeks. The number is fifty three in which life was actually taken, and twenty more unsuccessful attempts. Domestic trouble was the cause in a majority of the cases, and straitened circumstances and disappointments in business led to what coroners's juries call the "rash act" in others.

There is a "blow up" in the office of Porter's Spirit of the Times. Wilkes and Dayton, the two proprietors, have quarreled. At the last stage of proceeding Dayton had obtained an injunction to restrain the publication of Wilkes's paper.

A FAT HORSE CONTRACT .- A Leavenworth orrespondent of the New York Times says: The last subject of discussion here is a contract given to a Virginian, named Gilispie, for four hundred cavalry horses, at one hundred and seventy-five dollars spiece. The lucky recipient of this job sold out to a St. Louis dealer at a profit of fourteen thousand dollars—that is, the actual horse-dealer filled the contract at one hundred and forty dollars a horse. But this was not the whole loss to the Government—the horses were not wanted; certainly not at this eason. Two hundred and five of the animals, however, were sent to Fort Smith, and the balance, one hundred and ninety-five, to this poet, and an officer was sent on to inspect and receive them, and turn them over to the Quarter-master. Inauguration Ceremonies at Antioch College.

[Special Correspondence of the Penny Press.] YELLOW SPRINGS, O., Sept. 9, 1859. EDITORS PENNY PRESS: On yesterday (Thursday) evening the inauguration of Rev. Thomas Hill as President of Antioch College took place in the chapel, which was filled with an eager company, and agreeably decorated for the occasion. The exercises were as follows:

President Hill entered leaning on the arm of Dr. Bellows. He is a man of about forty-five years, with light, Saxon complexion and hair; deep blue eyes, full of light. He is a little over five feet in hight, and rather stout than otherwise. Although his neat dress gives him an air of greater respectability, he looks like Horace Greeley, with less stoop and more hair. Our only memory of President Hill has been hitherto an incident which occurred in 1854. It was at a Conference of New England Unitarians, and some very eminent divine was giving an address, in which he repeatedly used the word "females." At last Mr. Hill jumped up as one who could stand it no longer: "Mr. Chairman, I beg the gentleman's pardon, but will he not have the charity to say women. 'Female' is a physical characteristic, signifying sex." He quietly sat down amid many gratified hearers.

After the exercises of yesterday evening, which were very creditable and impressive, Mr. Hill gave us his address, and convinced us that if he did not have, as the papers said, a copious stream of eloquence, he had a copious stream of good sense. If ever there was an address which bore with it the grace of modesty and simplicity, and the strength of granite, it was this. He is a powerful man, a thinker and a knower. His inaugural gave a sketch of a complete education, which he made to consist of—I, the training of the senses; 2, that of the intellect; 3, of the feelings; 4, of the will. [Prof. Lecompte's generalization is-1, science; 2, art; 3, religion This inaugural will, I make no doubt, be given to the public; it is too good to be re-will stay until he sees his way clear.

Mr. Hill evinced great judgment by making it his condition of acceptance, that the salaries of all the Faculty should be guaranteed. This the Trustees of the College formally agreed to do, on their own responsibility. It will, of course, not fall upon them, for already students are pouring into Antioch, which, born as it was of a want, must be self-sustaining; but it shows how deep in all concerned is the love of this college.

Illinois State Fair. FREEPORT, ILL., Sept. 8, 1859.

Yesterday was a day of crowds. The people came in by tens, hundreds and thousands. The receipts warrant the conclusion that there were fifteen thousand people on the grounds. Four thousand six hundred dollars ceived for tickets alone, and on the day previous about three thousand, making the whole receipts for two days—generally the least at-tractive—to a sum near eight thousand dollars. To-day, with favorable weather, the receipts would have been larger than yesterday, but there are signs of rain, which will damage the attendance. As a pecuniary success it is now evident that this Fair will stand upon an equal footing with any preceding one, in the fac the United States Fair at Chicago, which it is confessed is somewhat a damper upon this ex-

The first editorial convention of the State was held here yesterday. Long John Went-worth, of Chicago, made a glorious speech, in which he gave some wholesome advice to the craft. He advised them to cease taking care of politicians and other people, and starving themselves and families. He did a little self-glorification in illustrating his position by setting himself out as an example. He is one of the wealthiest men in Chicago. Mr. Blaisdell, of Rockford, made a capital speech, in which he argued a higher standard of excellence in the profession. Mr. Bond, of the Mendota Observer, argued the action of the convention in demanding of the State Legislature increased attention to the quesion of legal publications, and particularly in regard to the publication of the laws.

[Special Correspondence of the Ponny Press.] FREEPORT, Friday Evening, Sept. 8, 1859. It is estimated that there were near twenty thousand people on the ground to-day. The receipts were over three thousand dollars, making the whole amount reaching $12,000; $2,000 greater than the Centralia Fair of 1858.

The thorough-bred bulls were in the ring this morning, and the following first premiums were awarded: Durham four-year old Knickerbocker, entered by Chamberlain, of Ohio; three-year-old King Alfred, imported; two-year-old Gold Finder, J. C. Bour, Sangamon; yearling Henry Clay Second, Turner, Boone County; bull calves, Emperor, J. N. On the whole, the Fair of 1859 has been a good one in many respects. The people have enjoyed it; the weather has been propitious; the show has been respectable, and the receipts have been better than anticipated.

REPORTED FOR THE PENNY PRESS.

NOON DISPATCHES. Washington Correspondence.

NEW YORK, September 10 .- The Herald's Washington correspondent says: General Harney sent troops to San Juan to protect the white settlers from the savages, who were committing most atrocious murders. Nothing inimical to the British Government was intended by such movement. The jealousy of Gov. Douglass was needlessly excited. No collision with the British troops or subjects is apprehended by the Government. The President was Secretary of State when the boundary treaty was negotiated under President Polk, and is perfectly familiar with all the circumstances attending it. He and Robert J. Walker were the only mem-bers of Mr. Polk's Cabinet who opposed the 49th parellel as the boundary. They adhere to 54 degress and 40 minutes as our just limits. No doubt need be entertained that the title to San Juan will be amicably adjusted, as the President must be perfectly aware of our rights, and will ask nothing more. The long connection of Governor Douglass with the Hudson Bay Company doubtless caused him to view all the country in that vicinity as under the jurisdiction and protection of the British Government, at least, if not actually the property of the sempany, and his interests may have rendered him excitable in temper and precipitate in action.

The Cabinet was in session to-day on the whole subject, and the tenor of the instruction to General Harney, as stated yesterday, will be of the most temperate and conciliatory char-

Messrs. Morris, of New York. Browley of Wisconsin, and Browley, of Pennsylvania, have the pork contract for the navy, at $14 95. The Republicans assert to-day that one G. Donnellan, a clerk in the Land Office, has been flooding Iowa with circulars, dated Iowa Democratic Club-rooms, Washington, and speeches by Land Commissioner Hendricks, inder the frank of Senator Bright, who has been absent four months.

Governor Floyd is expected to return to his post about the 15th inst. His health is greatly improved. The President has not yet accepted the resignation of Hon. T. A. Hendricks, as Commis-sioner of the General Land Office, but holds the matter under advisement.

Hon. A. B. Greenwood, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, will start on Sunday next on a visit to the Indian tribes of the West, with s view of observing personally the operation of our present Indian system before preparing his annual report.

The balance in the Treasury of the United States on the 5th inst., was $4,344,216, being an increase of $629,410 75 on the balance shown by the previous weekly statement.

Advices received by the General Land Office announce the completion, on the 4th ult., of the survey of the western boundary of Minnesota, and the placing of the corner-stone at the inter-

ction of the northern and western boundarie of that State.

The Times's Washington dispatch says:

Much annoyance is felt here, both by the English Legation and the Secretary of State, at the recent news from San Juan. The re-lations of the two Governments having become most cordial and friendly, it is hoped the good sense of both powers may prevent any serious mischief in the premises. It is understood that Mr. Wycke, the new British Minister, takes out to Central America positive instructions to propose a treaty, which, if the Central Americans refuse to accept, they will be held responsible by all the world for prolonging an unnatural state of things between themselves on the one hand, and England and America The only wish of the British Government, and a wish most anxiously felt, is to come to a final understanding with the United States about Central American affairs. Aerial Voyage to Europe. Naw York, September 10 .- An aerial ship, called the City of New York, intended for a trans-Atlantic voyage, has been in the course of construction for some months past, in the vicinity of this city, and is now so nearly completed that she will be ready to undertake the trip in October. The aeronaut who has charge of the enterprise is Mr. Lowe, of New Hampshire, who has made several successful ascen The dimensions of the ship are greater than those of any balloon previously built. The capacity of the gas-receiver is seven hundred and twenty-five thousand cubic feet; the aggregate hight of the balloon from the valve to the bottom of the boat is upward of three hundred feet, and the diameter one hundred and thirty feet. Mr. Lowe proposes to go directly from New York to London in from forty-eight to sixty-four hours. Dropping below the basket is a metallic life-boat, in which is placed an Ericsson engine. Its particular purpose is the contrd of a propeller, rigged upon the principle of thescrew, by which it is proposed to obtain a regulating power. The application of the mechanical power is ingeniously devised. The propeller is fixed in the bow of the life-boat, projecting at an angle of about forty-five degrees. From a wheel at the extremity twenty fars radiate; each of these fans is five feet 'an length, widening gradually from the poir t of contact with the screw to the extremity, where the width of each is one and one-half fer t. Mr. Lows claims that by the application of the mechanical contrivances, h's air-ship can be readily raised or lowered to seek different currents of sir; that they will give him ample steerage-way, and that they will etent the rotary motion o', the machine.
